About Section (Homepage Snapshot)

Montreal Parental Village was founded on a simple but powerful belief: no parent should navigate the challenges of single parenthood alone. We are a nonprofit organization based in Montreal, dedicated to reducing isolation, strengthening family stability, and connecting single parents to the support they need.

Through mutual aid, community programs, and a strong local network, we help single-parent families build resilience, access resources, and create a future full of possibility.

About Montreal Parental Village

We are more than an organization — we are a community built on the belief that every single parent deserves support, understanding, and the chance to thrive.

Our Story

Montreal Parental Village was born out of a recognition that single parents in our city faced enormous challenges — not just financial, but emotional and social. Too many were navigating parenthood in isolation, without the network of support that makes all the difference.

We set out to change that. By bringing together single parents, community volunteers, local organizations, and advocates, we have built a village right here in Montreal — a place where no parent is left to face the journey alone.

Our Mission

Montreal Parental Village exists to support single parents by building a strong, inclusive community rooted in mutual aid, practical support, and shared responsibility. Guided by the belief that it takes a village, we work to reduce isolation, strengthen family stability, and ensure that no parent has to navigate parenting alone.

Our mission is to help single parents access the resources and community support they need to achieve financial stability and family well-being.

Our Vision

We envision a Montreal where every single-parent family has the tools, confidence, and community they need to flourish — where challenges become opportunities and every parent feels valued, understood, and empowered to succeed.

Our Values

- Community First — We believe in the transformative power of belonging and mutual support.
- Inclusion — Every single parent, regardless of background or circumstance, is welcome here.
- Empowerment — We build confidence and capability, not dependency.
- Dignity — We treat every family with respect and compassion.
- Collaboration — We work hand-in-hand with local partners to provide holistic support.

What We Do

We offer a comprehensive network of support, training, and advocacy for single-parent families who aspire to independence. Our programs include:

- Peer Mentoring — Connecting parents with experienced mentors who understand their journey.
- Workshops & Training — Practical skill-building in areas like budgeting, employment, and parenting.
- Resource Navigation — Helping families access local services, housing support, legal aid, and more.
- Community Events — Regular gatherings that reduce isolation and build lasting friendships.
- Advocacy — Giving single parents a voice in the community and at the policy level.

Help Build the Village

Every single parent who walks through our doors is looking for the same thing: someone in their corner. Your support makes sure they find it.

Why Your Donation Matters

Single parents face unique and often compounding challenges — financial instability, social isolation, and limited access to professional networks. Your generosity directly funds the programs and services that change lives:

- $25 provides a single parent with access to a skills workshop.
- $50 connects a family with a peer mentor for one month.
- $100 funds emergency resource referrals for a family in crisis.
- $250 sponsors a parent's participation in our full empowerment program.
- $500 helps sustain our community hub for an entire week.

How We Use Your Support

Montreal Parental Village is committed to financial transparency and maximizing the impact of every donation. Here's how funds are allocated:

- 65% — Direct Program Services (mentoring, workshops, resource navigation)
- 20% — Community Events & Outreach
- 15% — Administration & Organizational Sustainability
